GALES FERRY

The Harvest supper given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. S. Crandall, at Stoddard's Wharf, Friday evening for the benefit of the United War fund, was largely attended. The fine supper served consisted of fried chicken, creamed potatoes, fried sweet potatoes, brown bread, nut bread, biscuit, cabbage salad, pumpkin pie, Indian pudding and coffee. The table decorations were green and white, and the service was given by Elwin Haley of Brooklyn, N. Y., father of Mrs. Crandall, acted as host. The waiters were young men from the submarine base, three ensigns, and others, from the celestial force there. Mrs. Crandall was assisted by Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, the Misses Mathewson, Miss Alice Satterlee, Mrs. Charles R. McGowan of the village, with Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Otis and others from Brown's Crossing. Fifty-five dollars was netted.

In the M. E. church Sunday morning Rev. O. E. Newton spoke from Romans 8:37, the theme being, "We Are More than Conquerors." Through Him That Loved Us, Rev. Mr. Newton read a letter from J. L. Bartholomew, D. D., chairman of the World's Programme conference for the centenary of the M. E. church of this district, which is being observed by Methodism this year, urging the attendance of laymen at the conference at Tremont Temple, Boston, December 3 and 4.

At the Sunday school session the banner class in offering was Mrs. O. E. Newton and the banner class in travel from Egypt to Canaan, Miss Mary Birch's class, which had completed fifty miles. Rev. Mr. Newton and Dudley C. Perkins assistant superintendent were made guides to point out the interesting places and describe them and to call for assistance from any member of the school in the work to promote interest and study.

At the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Red Cross at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, work was continued on pajamas and children's dresses for the Belgians. The Long Cove contingent of the auxiliary sent in some finely knitted articles and are piecing a quilt, meeting every Wednesday afternoon at the home of some member.

Many hundreds of railroad ties that have been assembled at the yard of the railroad station here were loaded on freight cars last week and taken to different points along the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Mrs. O. E. Newton attended the Mothers and Daughters' supper given under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society in the Federal Street M. E. church, New London, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winchester and Mrs. Hooker of Norwich were the guests of J. Otis Winchester at the bungalow, at Perkins place, Friday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Sears and son, Alfred, from West Haven, were week and guests of Mrs. Sears' sister, Mrs. Delphine Fish.

John L. Rush of Montville, who is the R. P. D. carrier, from this office over the local route, has had John McGuire of the Lester district, substituting for him the past week, while Mr. Rush's automobile is receiving repairs.

Linemen have been busy the past week placing new arms and stringing wires on the telegraph poles along the track of the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad.

Miss Caroline E. Freeman was the guest of friends in Norwich last week and attended the meeting Tuesday evening of the Norwich Round Table.

Percy Norman of the Steamer Richard Pick is spending two weeks' vacation at the home of his mother, at Allen's Point and enjoying the hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Haley, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who have been recent guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William P. S. Crandall at Stoddard's Wharf, have returned to their home. Mrs. Haley stopping for a short time at her summer home in Mystic.

New Britain.—The board of water commissioners has issued a warning to the people of the city urging them to be careful in using water because of the continued dry weather.

DANIELSON

Tuesday night was open house night at the Goodyear Social club in Goodyear and all who attended spent a delightful evening. There was whist and dancing. One of the interesting incidents of the affair was the announcement of the gift of the babies of Goodyear to the United War Work fund. They had saved their pennies, all of which were placed in an envelope that was handed to Agent R. W. Roy of the Goodyear company as their representative in getting the money into the proper channel to do good for the boys "over there." The envelope contained 131 pennies.

Miss Dorothy Day, who has been very ill in New York, where she was in training to be a nurse, and her sister, Miss Mary Day, returned here on Monday evening and are at The Maples, with their father, Walter F. Day.

The freshman class of 44 members has made a 100 per cent. record of giving at Killingly High School, their achievement winning the cheers of the other classes.

William E. Keach, of the West Side, has taken on as manager of the employment department of the Connecticut Mills company.

Private Philip Roberge, D. S. C., has obtained an extended leave of absence, permitting him to remain at his home here until December 1.

Danielson people who have relatives among the soldiers in France and who wish to secure official labels permitting them to send packages may do so by applying at the headquarters of the Danielson Red Cross chapter.

Edwin Allen, charged with a serious offense, was in the town court before Judge W. P. Woodward, Tuesday morning and pleaded not guilty. His case was continued and he was released under bonds of $100.

"King" George Jacques is scheduled to engage this week his annual rabbit hunt, which is a big affair for the privileged to attend.

Amande Lucier of Carter street has been at Springfield attending the annual meeting of the Union St. John Baptist. He was a delegate from the local council.

Warden F. E. Cunneen was in New York Tuesday on a business trip.

A number of Danielson Elks will go to the annual meeting of the Elks, the conferring of degrees upon a class of nearly 100 candidates of the lodge in that city.

Frederick Racine, who has had office in the town hall, has moved to Reynolds street, where he is to make his home and establish his office. He was formerly a resident in Plainfield.

Danielson will plan a big celebration-reception for the town's men who are fighting overseas. Danielson has more than 100 men in D Battery, 56th Artillery.

Connecticut Mills employees who have made a liberal contribution to the United War Work fund will have an opportunity to see the amount of their contributions by working extra hours Saturday afternoon for a few weeks.

Killingly will be represented by exhibitors at the Windham County Farmers' association corn show to be held in Putnam tomorrow.

William W. Wheatley is at Groton, where he is employed as a guard and watchman at one of the big plants engaged on war work.

Saturday of this week brings the last day of the 1918 hunting season, which the hunters say, has not been much to brag about.

Danielson has a Peeping Tom, and the attention of the police has been called to him. He is charged with being made to apprehend the peeper.

Several thousand fingerling trout have been ordered from the state hatchery for the 1919 season. Distribution in brooks in this part of the county.

Deputy Automobile Inspector R. C. Young was at North Grotonville road to investigate the circumstances surrounding an accident in which a car driven by George Laporte was in collision with a bicycle ridden by a Desautels boy. The accident, which happened sometime ago, resulted in the boy sustaining a broken leg.

The funeral of Harvey Leo Baker was held Tuesday morning from the home of his parents in Dayville, with a high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Ignatius Kost was celebrant of the mass. The bearers were Patrick Mulligan, Harry Gallagher, William Gallagher, John Comer, Harry Kennedy and Edward Graham. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. E. E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

The death of Thomas Sullivan, 83, which occurred during the night, was announced Tuesday morning. Mr. Sullivan had lived all his life in Danielson and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan. His death occurred at the family home on Mechanic street. During his early years Mr. Sullivan was employed as a mill worker, but for many years he had devoted his attention to general work. He leaves three brothers, Michael, Cornelius and George, and two sisters, Misses Mary and Sarah, all of Danielson.

Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker of Hartford is to address the members of the Killingly Woman's club at a meeting to be held in the assembly hall at the high school this afternoon. The arrangement for Mrs. Schoonmaker to come here was in the hands of the Civics committee, of which Mrs. Riezi Robinson is chairman. Woman and Reconstruction will be the subject of the address and Mrs. Schoonmaker, who is an able speaker, has made a special study of her subject. Already farmers and gardeners who raise poultry are being caught out in order that birds may be obtained for Thanksgiving day, a week from tomorrow. The supply has not been over-abundant in this territory for more than a year, and the flocks here are being steadily depleted by buyers who take poultry away in truck loads to the city markets.

PUTNAM

Work will begin this morning, Postmaster Alexander Gilman said Tuesday afternoon on the remodeling of the two center stores in the Union block for use as postoffice quarters. The work will require about two months, so, it is now expected, the office will have been relocated by the end of January.

This getting at the work of re-fitting the stores so as to provide new postoffice quarters has been delayed for many months by litigation over the evicting of one of the tenants, who it was claimed in court, abrogated the lease he held on the stores, when a plea of guilty was entered in this particular store. The charge, in a sense, was a technical one, but it resulted in a long drawn out series of legal actions that caused a long delay in getting at the work now to be undertaken.

Postmaster Gilman has personally prepared the plans for the new office, which will contain 2500 square feet of floor space, nearly double that of the present quarters, which has only 1350 square feet. There will be a large central lobby for the use of the public, and around this in a near-horseshoe form, will be the different department windows and mail boxes. Postmaster Gilman said Tuesday that he has given considerable thought to the matter of choosing between key boxes and combination lock boxes, and after endeavoring to learn public sentiment on the matter, has decided in favor of the key boxes.

The public entrance to the new office will be on the Union square side, but there also will be entrances on the Union street side, these for the use of the rural carriers and other office employees.

Commodious quarters for each department will be provided in the new office, which will be very conveniently arranged for handling the mail. The fixtures have been ordered and are now being made and the furniture for the office is expected to arrive here in ample time to be placed before the date set for the opening of the office.

The government has a ten years' lease of the new quarters, which are in the same building as the quarters at present occupied as a postoffice. The present quarters will be occupied by the Putnam Light and Power company, for office.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tourtellotte will be buried today, and the fact again brings the attention of the public to the deadliness of the influenza-pneumonia epidemic which this city has experienced this fall. Mr. Tourtellotte's death was reported in The Bulletin Monday morning. The death of Mrs. Tourtellotte, which occurred during Monday night, Mrs. Edith Elizabeth Tourtellotte was the daughter of Ephraim and Annie Gerber Smith and was born in the town of Thompson. Mrs. Tourtellotte was 30 at the time of her husband's death that her life was spared of it being stated then that she would live but a few hours. Mr. and Mrs. Tourtellotte have an infant son.

Albert Wheaton, 32, a farmer whose home was in the town of Pomfret, died during Monday night at the Day Kimball hospital. Mr. Wheaton, a widower, had been in poor health for some time. His body was removed to the rooms of one of the city's undertakers. Mr. Wheaton was the son of George W. and Mrs. Rebecca Wheaton, of the town of Thompson. He had lived practically all his life in towns in this section of the county.

With the obligation of furnishing more men for the army and navy service, practically complete, although there continues to be the possibility of calls for a few men for the navy or marines, it may now be stated that 578 men have gone into service from the district made up of the towns of Putnam, Killingly, Woodstock, Thompson Eastford and Ashford since June 5, 1917. Of this number 421 were sent to cantonments, army posts or government schools. The remainder, 157, were given permission to enlist. It should be remembered that these figures cover registrants only, between the ages of 21 and 31, and make no account of scores of other men who were "not in the draft" but who were real patriots and voluntarily went out and offered their service to the country. This fact is not in any way a reflection on the men who entered through the selective service, but is set forth to show that a great many more men went into the army and navy from this district than is shown by the record of the local board. The district may well be proud of the showing that it made in the war, and it is very probable that it has furnished upwards of 800 men, but this only the final records will show.

Figures in the hands of the committee late Tuesday afternoon show that the contributions to the war fund drive in Putnam up to that time totaled $2949.58. The indications are that Putnam will have over $10,000. Some of the manufacturing concerns had not had their contributions reported up to Tuesday afternoon.

The problem is one, Mrs. Bartlett said, that will call for the careful consideration of the people of the city. It is not so difficult to find homes for the little ones for a short time, but finding them permanent homes is an entirely different matter.

Mrs. Bartlett will call this city's plight in this matter to the attention of the Child Welfare League, at its meeting in Hartford tomorrow.

Peter McQueen, noted lecturer, who has just returned from Europe, will address at the assembly hall at the high school Tuesday evening.
